No. 3

Notes from the A.C.

Miss Redig returned last Monday from a visit to Lacombe where she was attending the wedding of her alister.

Mr. MacDonald returned from Calgary last Monday. While in Calgary Mr. MacDonald was taken ill with the flu. We are pleased to see that he has recovered and is with us again.

The Lit. are holding a staff and student banquet next Friday. Following the banquet there will be a programme and a dance.

Mr. T. C. McBeath arrived back in Raymond last Saturday and has been around the school the last few days.

We were very sorry to learn that Miss Matsuyo Takahashi was suddenly taken ill with appendicitis, she is at present in the Galt Hospital at Lethbridge and is reported as doing very nicely.

Mrs. Nye, a department instructress in millinery, is at present giving her two weeks short course to the students in domestic science.

Last Friday W. G. Smith returned from a two weeks trip from Edmonton and Saskatoon. While in Edmonton Mr. Smith was engaged in instructing in the weed inspector's diploma short course, and while at Saskatoon attended a committee meeting of the National Research Council of Canada.

The first year boys defeated the staff on Tuesday in a game of football. The staff were in the lead until the last lanings, but could not stop a hitting streak of the boys which piled up the score, 17 to 8.

H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture, paid the R. S. A. a short visit last Tuesday. He was accompanied by Mr. Wilson of the department of Agriculture.

A girls dress parade is being planned in connection with the annual visitors day. Watch for further announcements.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wall have gone to the States and will spend a couple of weeks in Spokane with their son Lynn, and two weeks in Portland with their daughter and family.

"SCOUTING" A World Asset

When one remembers that the Boy Scout movement is made up of the largest organized force of boys in history and that the Boy Scouts of America, celebrating its twentieth anniversary, makes up nearly half of that membership, it is of especial significance to note that the pursuits of Scouting are the pursuits of peace. The chief purpose of the movement is character building and the training of boys for citizenship without regard to nationality, race, creed or color. Few movements in history have had higher aims. Probably none has succeeded in so great a measure in furnishing inspiration to boys.

Scouting takes the power and inherent gang instinct of a boy and directs it into useful channels. It has established a reputation among boys as a great adventurous game. Adults have found it to be true to its claim—an educational institution which builds character.

The Boy Scout in his khaki uniform is a knight-errant, and he is found in every part of the world. The Scout oath and law, like King Arthur's code of knighthood, sets a standard which appeals to the idealism of every boy. Such Scout laws as, "A Scout is trustworthy," "A Scout is loyal," "A Scout is brave" and "A Scout is reverent," are interesting, but it is the fact that Scouts generally, live up to them that is significant. The record of the organization in nearly a hundred lands shows that they really do.

The Scout hero who risks his all to save another, the Scout who works night and day in a community or national crisis, the Scout first-aiders, all these are familiar figures in every land.

That is why so many persons are rejoicing in the growth of the movement and joining with the Boy Scouts of America in celebrating its twentieth anniversary.—Christian Science Monitor.

"THUNDER"

At the Capitol Theatre Tonight and Saturday

"Grumpy" Anderson, veteran engineer on the Chicago Northwestern line, drives the crack limited. His engine and the road are his pride and almost his religion. His two sons are railroad men—one a brakeman and the other his own fireman, whom he "razzes" constantly. They live with Molly, the wife of the brakeman, and their small son.

One night the Limited picks up a special car of an official, and it develops a hot axle. The passengers ride in the regular train, and Tommy, the fireman, flirts with Zella, a night club dancer in the car, finally getting her to ride in the cab, to "Grumpy's" disgust.

This disgust ends in tragedy when Tommy, in love with the girl, resolves to quit railroading and get a white collar job. Another tragedy comes when Jim, the brakeman son, is killed by a train. Then—to cap it—"Grumpy" Anderson appears for the usual eye examination, becomes frightened and leaves without taking it and loses his card. He cannot drive an engine, so gets a job in the shop; Molly, the widow, and her small child go South to stay with relatives.

Finally "Grumpy" is put on his engine, which is to be towed West, to tend the "deadhead." While they are on a siding the Mississippi flooded ceases. A rescue train is stalled on its way, and Tommy and Zella meet him anxiously trying to reach Molly, who is in the flood. The old man gruffly orders his son into the cab to "fire" and they make the run in place of the injured engineer, saving the victims of the flood and finding Molly and the baby safe.

Tommy promises his father to return to railroading, as Zella insists—and the railway officials, their attention attracted to the engineer by the run, investigate—to find out that his eyes are perfectly good. He gets his beloved "2320" back again—on the limited run.

Solon Low spent the week end in Calgary.

Chas. E. Fawns went into Lethbridge on Tuesday to have an operation for tonsillitis.

The "Calgary Normalites" will be here Saturday night in the first semi-final game with the "Idlers." It will be brother against brother as Welburn Van Orman and Dean Rolfsen are two of the star performers on the Normal School line up. Of course you'll be there.

Prospects for a good Baseball season were never better and all we need is a good early start. Lets Go.

Big C. P. R. Program for 1930

Montreal, March, 4th—More than $50,000,000 will be expended on new equipment, new branch line construction and improvement to existing equipment and roadbed by the Canadian Pacific Railway during 1930, according to an announcement made here today by E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Firm in the conviction that Canada will continue its steady and unhurried progress during the present year the Directors of the Company approved of this impressive program of improvements and extensions, Mr. Beatty said when emphasizing that the scope of the program would include practically every phase of the companies activities. The average actually prepared for the Western crop this year, developments in the mining field, and in other directions, he felt, more than justified this vast expenditure on projects which bid fair to field the shareholders a better return and at the same time stimulate Canadian industry and provide employment for many thousands of Canadian workmen.

The "Jacks" had as their hosts on Wednesday night the "Aces" of Lethbridge and sent them home on the short end of a 56-51 score.

It was some game, and no mistake at the final whistle the score was 45-45, and in the five minute overtime period, "Slim" Nalder broke away and rolled the cowhide through the circle four times in about 2 minutes, bringing the fans out of their seats every time.

Lethbridge was minus their forward, Howard, and H. Fairbanks had had a painful eye, so the question of teams is still a debatable one.

Right from the first whistle the play was fast and determined, and the score see-sawed back and forth all the time. "Bud" McKillop, the long range man of the Aces was off and did but little damage. Sinclair was in great form and was the centre of play all night.

The high scorer of the game was R. Fairbanks of the Jacks who rolled up a total of 20 points, Sinclair led the Aces with 15.

The lineup and points was:—

ACES
Green 12; Radley 12; Sinclair 15; McKillop 8; Mitchell 2; Dunlop 1; VanDee Ree 0; Donaldson 0. Total 51.

JACKS
R. Fairbanks 20; C. Nalder 15; H. Fairbanks 14; A. Lund 2; W. Higgs 4; D. Nilsson 1; Meldrum 0. Total 53.

T. Ferguson and Earl Zemp had the histles and kept the game well in hand.

The preliminary was between the Raymond 2nd and Magrath 1st. Ward 21 Men, the visitors winning 30-21.

Board of Trade Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Raymond Board of Trade was held at the New Club Cafe on Wednesday, March 5, with Pres. T. O. King in the chair.

After the minutes were read and accepted, the subject of Redistribution was discussed and it was decided to have the Executive of the Board gather the necessary information and data regarding the wishes of the district in case any redistribution was made affecting this district.

Radio Interference was mentioned and the Secretary was asked to write the Inspector in Calgary and urge immediate action.

The road question was brought up again. O. H. Snow was present and stated that it was the purpose of the government to build some standard dirt roads this year, and in the course of the next year or two to get them gravelled. This included the stretch between the correction line and Lethbridge and from Balderston's corner to Marath; and that if the Sugar City M. D. would build the six miles in the connecting link up to standard the government would take it over, share half the cost, and keep it up.

O. S. Longman spoke briefly of the efforts of the Indies organizations of the town to get a Horticultural Society organized, and hoped the Board would assist. Also spoke of the grain cleaning plant at present operating in the district and hoped the farmer would all make use of it.

A resolution was endorsed asking the C. P. R. to improve and enlarge the stockyard facilities both here and at Wellington.

The Beet Grower's Institute meeting to be held on Friday night was announced and then the discussion centered around the danger to the children of playing and fooling around in the middle of the street when traffic is so heavy. It was moved that the Council be asked to make an effort to regulate the speed in the town and also the habits being formed by the children which are so dangerous.

Those present were:—

T. O. King, T. L. Halpin, O. S. Longman, J. W. Evans, O. H. Snow, R. A. VanOrman, T. Geo. Wood, C. R. Wing, L. D. King, T. Wilde, F. R. Taylor, Dr. Leech, C. C. Watson, H. S. Allen, C. W. Lamb and S. I. May.

The Week in the Alberta Legislature

Resolutions of private members furnished most of the subjects for debate in the Legislature of Alberta for the week just ended. The first of the series was that offered by Chris Pattison, Labor, Edson, who asked the government to consider the institution of a system of state medicine and health insurance. He showed that the system had worked well in the European countries where it had been tried out. Six hundred doctors properly distributed in Alberta would lower deaths from maternity complications, reduce infant mortality and improve general health. The Minister of Health, Mr. Hoadey, introduced an amendment urging expansion of the present efforts toward public health with continued study of state medicine. Both Mr. Shaw and Mr. Brownlee were in accord with the general idea, but opposed the motion for lack of authoritative knowledge as to the probable cost. The amendment carried and the motion failed.

The resolution of L. A. Giroux, Liberal, Grouard, asking that Peace River be given telephone connection with the outside world was lost after the Minister of Telephones, W. V. Smith, stated that the probable deficit on such a line would be $20,000 a year. Mr. Giroux was not convinced, but all the other members were, including Hugh Allen, U.F.A., Peace River, who had seconded the motion.

The rest of the day was occupied with the consideration of the estimates for the departments of Attorney General and of the Provincial Secretary. Estimated expenditure of $1,205,308 was voted to the Attorney General in the fact of brisk Liberal criticism. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Webster attacked Mr. Lymburn on the Premier's statement earlier in the session that the department was now costing less than it had in 1921, the last year of the Liberal regime. After a warm argument no apparent agreement was reached except that the comparison was difficult because of the changed character of the service given. The vote of $473,690 for the Provincial Police was held over to give Mr. Duggan, Cons. leader, a chance to show why the force should be abolished. On Thursday, Mr. Duggan took up the attack showing heavy considerable saving could be made since the Royal Canadian Mounted Police would do the work for $210,045,000 for maintenance and transportation of prisoners. It would not be difficult to care for the enforcement of provincial statutes and gave the Enforcement Squad the liquor laws separately. He would continue the debate. The debate was adjourned by Mr. Lymburn and there will be more of it later.

Estimates of $84,916 for the Provincial Secretary's Department went through quickly after a few questions from the Liberals had been answered.

On Tuesday, C. L. Gibbs, Labor, Edmonton, introduced his resolution calling on the federal government to bring in a system of nationwide unemployment insurance. The member stated that modern industry was responsible for the problem and should bear the burden. The federal government which controls the tariff, car best get at the matter. J. T. Shaw, Bow River, the Liberal leader agreed that something should be done but pointed out that the B. N. A. Act would prevent the federal government from moving. Mr. Brownlee also in general accord feared that the weight might be thrown on the province. Mr. Shaw had moved an amendment and the Premier now introduced an amendment to the amendment. It was finally agreed that a compromise resolution should be drafted to which all groups could assent. Mr. Lang, Liberal, Medicine Hat, then followed with his motion calling on the federal government and the C. N. R. to complete the Hanna-Medicine Hat Railway as promised long ago. The mover showed that the road would be of great advantage to the flour-milling and brick Clarence Elder is going to Calgary the first part of the week to attend a Hart-Parr Convention.

Since the weather moderated work has been going on steadily on the 2nd Ward Chapel and the residences under construction in town.

The new car fever is rampant again but the wheat market is a sure and almost instant cure in a great many cases.

A number of changes have been made in the arrangement of the stock in the Red and White Store. It adds greatly to the appearance.

The roads are in pretty good shape and unless we have a great many spring storms should not cut up too badly.

A. Betts has installed a "finisher" machine in his shop and will be able to turn out more and better work. See it and see if we are right.

Don't forget the Baseball Meeting at the Town Hall at 3 p.m. Sunday March 16th. Be there and give your support.

Fascinating Links in Canada's History

Ottawa, March 4—(Special to the Recorder)—Another connecting link with the Old Regime in Canada has been established by the securing of a picture of Charles de Menou, Seigneur d'Aunoy Charlemy by the Dominion Archives at Ottawa. The portrait was considered a "find" as it was not thought there was a picture of the former governor until a few years ago.

At exposition held last year in Paris a miniature was shown which was owned by d'Aunoy's relatives and it is from the miniature that the present painting has been made. It is large and well framed and has just been received from the photographers by Dr. Kenny at the Archives. The picture is that of a young man, with kindly eyes and long, fair hair. His collar, which is attached to his military suit, is edged with beautiful lace, and the eyes do not revert to the details, but rather to the strong character which is lived in the face.

The story of D'Aunoy Charlemy is told by Parkin in Vol. 1 of his Old Regime in Canada. There he tells of the coming to Canada of D'Aunoy in 1632, with his cousin Claude de Razilly. He was a gentleman of birth and character and they settled on the Acadian lands. Razilly, who represented King Louis, died in 1635 and left his authority to D'Aunoy and nobody disputed his authority except La Tour. La Tour had been sent to Acadia by Sir William Alexander and was made a baronet of Nova Scotia, a new title which King James had authorized on people of consideration aiding him in his work of colonizing Acadia. La Tour pretended to be independent of D'Aunoy in virtue of his commission from the Crown and his grant, which was of lands at Cape Sable. Hence rose discussions that at last grew into war.

La Tour ruled over his little kingdom at Cape Sable, with its rocks, fogs and breakers, its seal haunted bays and iron bound shores guarded by Fort Lomeron, which he called Fort La Tour. On the other side of the peninsula D'Aunoy reigned at Port Royal like a feudal lord. Then La Tour to strengthen himself against his formidable neighbor, got from the company of New France the grant of a tract of land at the mouth of the river St. John, where he built a fort and called it after his own name, though it was better known as Fort St. Jean. Then a bitter feud started between the two chiefs, each claiming lands occupied by the other. Fights followed in which the King sent soldiers from France to aid D'Aunoy and La Tour was a fugitive. D'Aunoy was drowned in 1650 not far from the mouth of the Annapolis while in a canoe. Madame La Tour had died a violent death in 1644, and 1653 Madame D'Aunoy married the foe of her late husband, La Tour.

Requests are received quite often at the Archives for a picture of Madame La Tour but so far they have been unable to locate one at all.

LEGISLATION OR EDUCATION?

There is a growing tendency among the children of the town to infect the centre of streets, in numbers approaching the "herd" size, and, regardless of the amount of traffic saunter along, in defiance of traffic rules and openly dare the drivers of cars.

These same children will hang out a wagon for a while, then drop off right in front of a car, and the driver must swerve one way or the other and "slam" on the brakes, and all at the danger of hitting someone else and wrecking his car.

We know there probably is a fine line as to just where the motorist's rights end and the pedestrians begin but there are sidewalks for children and except at intersections, children should stay on them. The speed limit is twenty miles per hour, and at intersections, but there is positively no chance of bringing a car under immediate control at twenty miles per hour, and most of the danger is between intersections where this is the lawful speed.

Now, kind readers it may and it may not be your child that carries on in this manner, but it would be a good thing to sound a note of warning anyway. Tell the youngsters not once, but often, of the dangers that lie in such actions.

Boys and girls get to playing, and forget to be careful and these things must be harped on continually.

The Council may legislate, but if as parents, we do not educate, nothing much will be accomplished.

And now a word to the motorist. Always play safe. Time is precious we grant that, but life is more so. See to it that you are not the one who turns a twenty miles per hour into a forty mile speedway and then laugh because you got away with it. We venture the opinion that if someone else did this same thing and injured one of your children in doing it, you would yell loud and long for justice to give him the limit, and then likely wish it were more. Be consistent, fair and just.

One thing more. The man on your right has the right of way. Memorize this so you can't forget it. When coming to an intersection be sure you look to the RIGHT. If a car is coming near the turn give him his rights. If you try to steal them and he hits you he is blameless. Use your road courtesy.

PASTURE FOR FATTENING BEEF

Those who are interesting themselves in the effort to supply the market with well finished beef the year round are looking into the possibilities of fattening beef on pasture, and the more they learn about it the more it appeals to them.

The fact is that giving the right type of animal the right kind of pasture and a knowledge of the under-taking, beef can be put on cattle more cheaply on pasture using a little grain, than ever could be dreamed of using the dry lot system.

Here is a system which is being tried out in parts of Montana, and is quite the proper thing in Manitoba where, owing to the inroads of rust and sow thistles, farmers have been compelled to go deeply into the growing of sweet clover and other pasture crops.

Good breed type calves are bought in the fall. They are carried through the winter on good roughage such as oat sheaves sweet clover or alfalfa hay some silage if it is available, and a grain ration, sufficient to keep the calves thrifty and growing. In the spring they are turned out on the pasture—mostly sweet clover in Manitoba, though a small field of bromes is a good starter for the early month or six weeks. On pasture the calves are still fed a grain ration, this being increased as they near the finishing period. When the calves are pretty well along and the market appears right, they are put into the feed lot and given a quick finish in three or four weeks. In this way good finished calves are available for the better class butchers during the summer and early fall months, at a time when very little fat stuff is available. This pleases the butcher and his customers, and the Manitoba and Montana people are learning that it is a cheap and profitable way to finish calves for a premium market. The calves, weighing around 350 pounds in the fall, are generally turned off around 850 to 950. There has been both growth and an addition of fat, and the spread in price is generally attractive. The scheme has the advantage of being up with very little labor, the great amounts of sweet clover pasture which are being planted to increase soil fertility and help check weed growth. Very often there is a spread between cost and selling price of the calves of 35 to 40 dollars, admitting of paying the owner a good rental for pasture and making a profit on the transaction besides. Of course the spread depends upon the market conditions to a great extent, but the growth of the calf before the active finishing period is a big factor in making the undertaking a financial success.—Lethbridge Herald.

About the School

The missing Banner suddenly came to light last Thursday when, from the grade X11 and X1 room windows the student body watched one of the Freshies, who with more courage than discretion, was giving chase to three Juniors who sped before her waving pieces of the once large banner. An untimely end was put to the sport by the timely ringing of the 1:30 bell; however the spectators were all compensated by pieces of the said banner as souvenirs.

The staff was much relieved Friday since they were supposed to give Literary to find that a charge had been laid against the three Juniors before mentioned, and that a court session could be held in that period.

In spite of the fact that a remand was requested by the defence council,

Caveat Emptor

A few years ago "Let the buyer beware" was not so far from being the motto of American business. If a man set out to buy a razor he might get a very excellent one-----and, again he might not. There are some very fine products. And some very poor. And there was no way of choosing the good from the bad, except by test.

To-day that condition hardly exists. In every line of merchandise there are trade marked, standardized products. Products that are unvarying in quality and performance----that can be depended upon year in and year out. When you buy them you know what they are, what they'll do, and what they cost. . . .They're advertised products!

To take full advantage of this--to protect yourself---to save money--watch the advertisements! When you need anything turn to the advertising columns of this paper. Read about the things listed there. When you find the article you need, buy it--not haphazardly, but by name.

The advertisements protects your interests---read them.

RED CROSS ANNUAL MEETING

The main feature under discussion at the Annual Meeting of the Alberta Red Cross Society, which was held in Calgary on Saturday the 15th. Feb.
was the definite need for greater support if the Society is to continue to exist in this Province. The financial statement presented to the meeting showed a deficit on last year's operations of $13,500.00 and as there is no capital fund from which the Society can draw, it is obviously impossible for this to be continued. In consequence, the Executive made drastic reductions all the way along the line, and presented a budget calling for an expenditure of nearly $12,000.00 less than in 1929. The work of the Division has been on economical basis, and therefore the cuts that were made,
were very largely made in the services which have been rendered. Despite these cuts, the Division is facing a deficit of $5,000.00 at the end of 1930 unless the revenue for 1930 can be increased by this amount over that received in 1929 hence the definite appeal which was made at the Annual Meeting for greater support.

The reports which were read at the meeting by the Commissioner showed a really splendid work done during 1929, 180 Crippled Children were treated in the two Hospitals in Calgary and Edmonton and as a matter of fact, over $31,000 was spent by the Red Cross on Crippled Children's work in 1929. Of these 180 children, nearly half were orthopaedic cases, requiring long hospitalization. These children came from 97 different points in the Province and represented 20 different nationalities, giving some idea of the wideness of the work.
The Junior Red Cross work showed a remarkable increase of six thousand members bringing the total to just under 38,000 enrolled as Junior Red Cross members, in 1460 branches throughout the Province. There is no question that the work which is being done in connection with the three aims of the Junior Red Cross, Health Citizenship-and-Service, is truly an admirable one. The Outpost Hospital at Pounce Coupe had another successful year with 224 admissions and over thirty three hundred hospital days, there being 38 births in the Hospital during the year. The Health Service through the Radio broadcasts each week, has proved a very popular feature, and during the last four months over thirty patchwork quilts and some seven hundred and fifty garments were made by Radio listeners in, and sent in to the Red Cross offices in Edmonton. One could not listen to the reports which were given at the Annual meeting without realizing that the work that is being done is of real value to the life of the people of this Province, and it would be a most unfortunate thing if because of the lack of a comparatively small additional amount of financial support, Red Cross had in any way to stop operation. If the Alberta Division does not carry on the work, it will be the first Province across Canada to break the continuity of the work which is being done by Red Cross, and it is hoped that the citizens of Alberta will take sufficient pride in the work which has been done in this Division to make sur-that adequate support is given during the coming year. Ten cents per head of the population would be sufficient to carry Red Cross in this Province, but the difficulty is to get that ten cents. Let everyone do their part in at least sending in their membership fee of $1.00 and doing their utmost in connection with any local activities which may be attempted in support of the work.

WEDDING BELLS

M. D. COUNCIL FOR 1930

The Annual meeting of the Sugar City M. D. on Friday last resulted in three elections by acclamation. N. C.
Peterson, Stirling, and R. M. Matson
Magrath were returned, and F. W.
Domeril was elected in place of F. T.
Holt.

The other three Councilmen are N.
W. Peterson, Welling, R. S. Orgill,
Raymond and R. R. Murray, New Day ton. The Council has not yet organized themselves for the year's work.

The Financial Statement was discussed and accepted, and the main discussion was on the road question, and the sentiment of the meeting was that all future road work, except patching, should be graded up to a certain standard to make the roads more serviceable and lasting.

No discussion was had regarding graveling as more information is awaited as to the actions of the surrounding country.

SWINE CLUB ORGANIZED
At a well attended meeting Monday night last the matter of the organization of a swine club was discussed by Charles Asplund, and a committee was organized to obtain members. The committee is as follows, Clarence Alford, William Wilde, and Rhonda Dahl. The organization is open to boys and girls over ten and under twenty-one years of age. Particulars may be obtained from the committee or from Mr. Asplund. It is hoped that the organization of a swine club will be effected this year.

The matter of older people obtaining breeding stock at the time the club pigs are brought in was also discussed. Mr. Asplund indicated his willingness to assist in obtaining this stock if anyone so desired.

tion of the trustees to the new bill will be disarmed by making the larger districts optional as in Manitoba. Opposition to the new bill will come from all the opposition groups if gossip can be depended on.

THE WEEK AT EDMONTON

history to develop his argument. He went so far back that Mr. Speaker called him to order and admonished him to speak to his resolution. Mr. Parkyn protested and when the Speaker continued firm sat down obviously annoyed. When he failed to respond to the soft persuasion of Mr. Brownlee and of his own colleagues the debate went on without him. The motion was lost. The Labor group was more fortunate in its next motion that introduced by P.M. Christophers Rocky Mt., asking that the government alienate no more coal lands. He showed that Alberta now has 248 coal mines with a capacity of 14,000,000 tons a year to supply a demand for 7,000,000 tons in 1929. The Premier was in complete accord and promised that no new projects would be authorized. The motion passed unanimously.

The Wheat Guarantee Bill was introduced on Thursday. Mr. Brownlee showed that Alberta cannot lose more than $1,500,000 at the most. Saskatchewan guarantees the margin on two thirds the wheat held by the Pool, the remaining third guaranteed jointly by Alberta and Manitoba. If the Pool handles half of Canada's exportable wheat amounting to 240,000,000 bushels, Alberta will guarantee a ten-cent margin on 40,000,000 bu. If wheat then dropped 10 cents below a dollar the loss would be $4,000,000 less the assets of the Pool put up as security amounting to $2,500,000. The other party leaders agreed with the policy of the government though they felt that Mr. Brownlee should give them more information as to what is going on. Mr. Duggan was pleased that the Premier felt so optimistic.

Once again the Trackways Bill has gone down to defeat. Sponsored by Donald Cameron, U.F.A., Innisfail, and backed by thousands of petitioners, the plan called for the construction of a system of concrete toll roads in the province. Opposition to the plan rises mainly from fear that the road would not pay and that it would have to be taken over by the government. Some members spoke in favor of letting the promoters take a chance but the Premier's decided opposition carried the day against the bill. Mr. Cameron regretted that the Premier, who was usually 100 per cent. sound, should be wrong in this case. 32 members believed Mr. Brownlee was right again, and 14 voted for the bill. Such a strong demand for better roads cannot be ignored, and the next two or three years may force the government to take up the problem of all-weather roads.

Redistribution and the new School Bill have still to be brought down, and both must come down this session. Advance information on the school bill indicating that the dismissal of teachers should be placed under the control of the Inspectors, led to a mass meeting of Edmonton teachers on Thursday night. Some hostility was expressed towards the Minister of Education. The opposi-

OUTLINES HUGE CANADIAN PROGRAMME

Upper Left, Empress of Britain, 46,000-ton liner now under construction; E. W. Beatty, chairman and president, Canadian Pacific Railway; Upper right, Royal York Hotel, Toronto, largest and latest hotel in the British Empire; Lower right, Monster 2800 C.P.R. locomotive, most powerful of any in use in Canada.

In a vast programme of work from East to West of Canada, the Canadian Pacific Railway will expend more than $50,000,000 in new equipment, new branch line construction and improvement to existing roadbed and equipment during 1930, according to announcement recently made by E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the road.

Every phase of the company's activities will be covered, the president emphasized, and this great development will stimulate Canadian industry and provide employment for thousands of Canadian workmen.

Equipment either new or improved will be to an amount of $14,500,000; improvement and extension of telegraph facilities will run to about $3,000,000; Canadian Pacific hotels will benefit to the amount of $3,500,000; the West will be given additional rail facilities to the amount of $10,000,000; similar work in eastern Canada will total around $7,500,000; and these expenditures will be in addition to the usual expenditures incurred every year totalling around $9,250,000. This $50,000,000 does not include large amounts for ocean steamships now building, nor for the work of the Colonization and Immigration Department of the railway which during 1930 will run close to the million dollar mark.

This impressive programme of growth and development is based on the conviction "that Canada will continue its steady and unhurried progress during the present year," held by the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway.
